CHET CURTIS: "Democratic Congressman Harris McDowell of Delaware says the United States watched step by step construction of Red China's atomic bomb installation by means of the spy satellites. McDowell told a news conference in Wilmington of a briefing given him and three other Democratic members of the House Foreign Affairs Committee Tuesday by Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

"One of the other Congressmen at the briefing, Wayne Hays of Ohio, has criticized McDowell for making public the secret information he received at a State Department briefing. Hays called McDowell's disclosure probably the biggest intelligence break Peking has had from the United States, says the information will be of unquestionable value to the Chinese Reds."
